CAMPAIGN CAN GET ALLIES ALUMNI BEHIND DRIVE.

The Loyola Campaign was officially opened Thursday night at a dinner attended by the sponsors, committee chairman, and workers of the Campaign. The note struck throughout the evening by both individuals and representatives of city, Church and industry was one of pride in the past achievements of Loyola, of fond appreciation for her influence on the community and of hope, not unmingled with confidence, that the outcome of the present crisis would ensure the continuance of the present good work for a good many years.

A magnificent attendance of 400 members of the Alumni gave testimony to the love and loyalty borne Loyola by her sons in time of need. From every outlying district they rallied to her cause as Fr. Walsh told his applauding audience in recounting the work of the past year in organizing the "Old Boys." Messrs. Murphy of Sherbrooke and Day of Toronto were present to pledge the support of their fellow-townsmen.

The Chairman, Mr. John T. Hackett, M.C. first introduced Fr. Rector who stated the needs of the College and gave statistics showing how these needs had arisen. The Drive was then officially sponsored by Rev. Fr. Whalen on behalf of His Excellency Archbishop Gauthier and by pro-Mayor McKenna on behalf of the city. Favorable reports were then given by Messrs. Smith, of the Industrial Committee, and Casey of the Special Names Committee and by Fr. Walsh.

Rev. Fr. McShane, then spoke on behalf of the Parish Priests and stressed the need of Loyola, the benefits of the Jesuit training and the need of higher education to provide Catholic leaders. Mr. John Basset, President of the Gazette, then gave the principal speech of the evening. He took as his theme the necessity of a good classical education as the foundation of a happy and prosperous nation. Though not a Catholic he heartily approved of the moral, intellectual, and physical development instilled in the students and he thought it fitting that he, a Protestant, should aid, in this Community where Catholic and Protestant live in such harmony.

Mr. F. J. Shaughnessy, father of seven Loyola boys, and Mr. Stalford, the organizer of the Drive, spoke a few minutes after which the dinner came to an end with the National Anthem.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY

At a meeting of the Scientific Society last Monday an exceedingly small gathering was addressed by Mr. A. Royer, who gave an interesting and comprehensive outline of the Soap Industry.

CAMPAIGN

The Chairman of the Student Committee reports that he has received a subscription for $100 from a member of Arts. The far beyond what is expected of the Students, it indicates Loyola Spirit.

STAMP RAFFLE

The College Stamp Committee wishes to extend their congratulations to the fine spirit shown by the High School. It might interest the College Sodalists to learn that the High School have brought in 100,000 stamps compared with our 30,000. One class, IIA brought in 47,000 stamps and came first with the right to draw for two hockey tickets. Fourth High placed second. Joe Johnson and Thomas Toppings of IIA deserve high praise for the fine contributions of stamps to further the cause of our Missions

AD MAJOREM I ET GLORIAM

D R I V E

There is a temptation at a time like this to indulge in platitudes about the tireless workers giving their all for old Loyola and the public being called upon to make sacrifices for education. "Platitude" is not quite the fitting word because these remarks are both very real. This campaign is not merely a question of holding a banquet to open the Drive and at the end of a week holding another one to close the Drive and announcing that the objective of the Drive has been reached. Everybody who is working on the Drive this week has a hard task cut out for him. And the student body, although it has not been called upon to take an active part in the campaign, should, we feel, do something tangible to show their loyalty to Loyola, to prove that they for whom the Drive is being held are sincerely interested in its success.

And so, the NEWS in conjunction with the Student Committee offers this suggestion, the performance of which will be a graceful, sincere gesture towards our Alma Mater. Most of us from Third and Fourth High up receive a generous allowance from our parents each week. Why not donate that allowance to the Drive, and this being the first week of Lent forego our shows and sodas for a week. However, the suggestion is valueless if we ask our parents to make up for this donation--for every Catholic parent in Montreal is being approached in this Drive.

And to the upperclassmen in the Arts' Course, who are soon to enter into the world of business and who might be eager to make a donation larger than they can at present afford, why not sign a pledge for that amount and pay it during the years to come?

Loyola fights best when her back is to the wall and she always comes out on top when the student body gets behind her.

DEBATE

The finals of the Inter-University Debating League, of which Loyola is a Sectional winner, will in all probability be held here at Loyola on Friday March 18th.

REMARKS HEARD AT
C A M P A I G N B A N Q U E T

Fr. Walsh, Old Boys' Moderator:

"The greatest gathering of Loyola Old Boys I've ever witnessed."

Mr. P. Quinn, Pres. Irish Societies:

"The greatest turnout of the Irish I've ever seen in support of an Irish undertaking."

Father McShane, Pastor

of St. Patrick's:

"The Sulpicians have just received a credit note for five million dollars from the Government. Good Sulpician that I am, if I had any say in that five millions, the first thing I'd do would be to hand over a great big slice of it to Loyola."

Maitre d'Hotel, Windsor Hotel:

"The most enthusiastic and best attended campaign banquet I've seen in 20 years."

Mr. Stalford, Campaign Director:-

"Don't be a 'door-step' canvasser. This drive is a selling proposition. We want you to go out and sell this campaign as if it was your own business you were selling."

SOPHOMORE WINS AGAIN! 13-3

The unconquerable Sophs embarrassed the Frosh by their feats of stickhandling and ability to score at will. Such remarkable stars as Shaughnessy, Macdougall, Paré, Robitaille, Chartier and Doyle -- managed by Wadey and Thoms--tried to play hockey with the Frosh team, but unfortunately the Frosh lacked the zest to make the game interesting. Shaughnessy scored five goals, Robitaille four, Macdougall three and Chartier one.

Mr. Ralph Pardo appeared on the scene of life with one side of his face slightly resembling the remains of the Halifax explosion. Says Mr. Pardo, "You should see the other guy. Personally, I saw the Northern Lights." Quite a constellation to him, no doubt. "We would like to suggest that he now turn toward his adversary his other cheek."

We had often wondered just what you called those ducky-rucky curls atop of the respective(?) craniums of Messrs. Paterson, McNicholl, and White. They call them "top-nots", but they're "not tops" with some of the boys, the jealous things!

Mr. Herbie Phelin, when nipped redmouthed with the goods between his teeth plates, was heard to explain: "This gum is very good."

Mr. Bill McNicholl, the Scot with the Irish name, was very aggravated during last week's class dealing with Irish history.

We have this one from the very best authority. A certain boy in Second High was sitting at his desk patiently bending and folding a sheet of paper. He continued doing this until the teacher became annoyed and asked, "What are you trying to do?" Boy: "Making my bed, Father."... Teacher: "Making your bed!" Boy: "Well, I am at least folding the sheet."

There was great joy in Fourth High this week when Messrs. Mercier and Madigan found out that children could get in to see SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS.

This is the worst yet. An interesting notice was found in Fourth High class room and read as follows: "Snow Red and the Seven Warfs.--For full particulars see Mr. Joseph Kearns."

aged to beat them 3-2. The scoring punch was furnished by McGrath and Kierans.

Outstanding for Loyola win were Lewis, with an artistic exhibition of goal-tending, and Sam Molina who played a fine game on defense. After this thrilling game, your correspondent looked as if he had escaped from Spain.

Seniors vs. Ottawa

At the Stadium last Saturday a smooth-working Maroon team beat a powerful Ottawa aggregation, 4-2.

Loyola's first two goals resulted from two three-man passing plays, Stuart opened the scoring, with Cleary and Emborg assisting. A few minutes later, Stuart and Cleary made the play for a nice goal by Emborg. In the second period, due mostly to poor clearing on Loyola's part, Ottawa tied up the game.

Parenteau, Warren and Langan then turned on the heat, but all to no avail until ten minutes remained. Then Stuart scored on a pass from Parenteau and Langan, and later Warren tallied to sew up the game, Parenteau getting the assist.

The two forward lines gave a smooth performance, and except for two bad lapses, the defense was airtight. McNicholl's goaling left nothing to be desired. In short, a very good game.

Heffernan Trophy in Sight

After beating Ottawa on Saturday, the Seniors repeated at St. Leo's expense on Sunday by a score of 3-0. Loyola was never seriously threatened, as after the first period, St. Leo's relied on long shots, which were easily taken care of by McNicholl.

On the offense, Warren proved the main cog scoring two goals. Stuart making the play on both occasions. For between these counters Emborg scored on a pass by Masse.

This game just about clinches the Canon Heffernan Trophy for the Seniors, who previously beat D.C.C. 4-2 and 6-0. They still have to play St. Leo's at their own rink, but the Maroon team has little to fear since they clearly outplayed their opponents.

Juniors

Last Sunday, the Juniors played "Spike" Madigan's "Northern Lights" who were anything but light. Still the Juniors man-

LOYOLA DEFEATS R.M.C. TO TAKE DOMINION CHAMPIONSHIP

Tuesday night the college journeyed to Kingston needing but one win to clinch first place in the league and to gather in the Dominion title. The final score of the game was Loyola 6, R.M.C. 2. The score was quite indicative of the game itself. Loyola were definitely superior to their opponents in all branches of the game, and seemed to be able to score at will. Only poor shooting when close in coupled with excellent goal-minding by Sommerville averted a larger score against the Cadets.

Half-way through the first period, Newton broke away with Kane and Porteous, faked a pass to the right, and then slid the puck to Kane who wheeled in and gave the goaler no chance on a drive to the corner. R.M.C. struck back hard on this and two minutes later scored during a mix up around the net. From this point on it was Loyola all the way, because from the next face-off Newton rang in his first goal of the night on a smart play by Porteous. Three minutes later, too, Porteous scored on a break-away with Kane. The first period ended with R.M.C. making four and five man rushes to try and tie the count.

Early in the second period Ernie Tyler maneuvered Newton into position and set up a perfect play for Donnie's second goal. The cadets continued to press with gang attacks until late in the period Kane caught all the Cadets down the ice and broke away to slide another past Sommerville. Tyler suffered a torn ligament in his shoulder during this period and was unable to play the remainder of the game.

R.M.C., as of old, were most dangerous in the third period and continued to battle hard as ever. Clarry Maguire and Red Langan were forced to carry the whole load of the defence until Kane dropped back to give one of them a rest. Allen and Sheridan got in close during this period only to have the goaler outguess them. Langan stopped a rush inside the Loyola blue line and passed up to Kane who broke away and circled the R.M.C. defence then passed to Newton who was left uncovered in front of the goal. Donnie drew the goaler out and then went around him to score his third goal of the game. The game ended shortly after R.M.C. scored a soft goal when they pushed Kelly back into the net and the puck dropped out of his pads across the line.

Although the front line of Kane-Newton-Porteous scored all six of the goals, the credit should go mainly to the defensive work of Tyler-Maguire-Langan, who consistently broke up the Cadets' rushes and fed the puck up to the waiting forwards. Kelly robbed the rushing forwards of more than one goal and was responsible for many of Loyola's breaks with some fine pass-outs.

The Loyola dressing-room was a scene of bedlam after the game, with congratulations being in order to Coach Dinsmore; Manager Clacy; Captain Tyler and Father Sherry. This makes the first time in many years that Loyola has captured a Dominion Title and the Team and student-body are certainly appreciative of the efforts of "Dinny" Dinsmore and of the work and interest he has put into his job as honorary coach not to mention the inconveniences such a job must entail. To him we offer both our heartiest congratulations and our sincerest thanks.
